Statement from NSTU President Paul Wozney on the extension of remote learning

"This has been an incredibly challenging time for students and their families and I want to thank parents and guardians for their patience and cooperation as we've transitioned to distance learning over the past three weeks. Obviously, under regular circumstances children do best when they are at school, but given how quickly COVID-19 has spread through communities, the NSTU supports the decision to extend remote learning for the remainder of the academic year.

"This was a difficult decision, which demonstrates a deep commitment on the part of Dr. Strang and Premier Rankin to the safety of students, teachers, school staff and families. The NSTU looks forward to working with government in the best interests of students as we navigate through the rest of this school year and as we prepare for the next one. Hopefully by the time September arrives, it will be safe to resume some, if not all, normal activities."
